

Kellanova Global Nutrition Criteria (KGNC)

Kellanova has developed nutrition criteria for our foods based on nutrition science and public health dietary recommendations to assess the role of our foods in eating patterns as part of a healthy diet. We consider four principles when designing our foods: the amount of food consumed, the frequency at which it is eaten, the foods it is eaten with, and the alternatives consumers may choose at that eating occasion.

Global Nutrition Criteria Development

We regularly revisit the criteria to ensure they remain in line with the latest science and dietary guidelines. We paid close attention to ensuring KGNC is within 10% tolerance of international benchmarks such as Children's Food and Beverage Advertising Initiative (CFBAI)¹ and the International Food and Beverage Alliance (IFBA).

The Global Nutrition Criteria:

- Applies to all our core categories
- Includes components to encourage, as well as those nutrients to be limited
- Lowers our previous nutrition criteria on nutrients to limit

Category	% reduction compared to the previous version of KGNC
	Sugar	Sodium	Saturated Fat
RTEC (Ready-To-Eat Cereal)	12.5%	15%	24%
Cereal Bars	12.5%	28%	N/A

Our Global Nutrition Criteria will be further reviewed in 2024. The detailed criteria are outlined in Annex 1.

Global Dietary Guidelines

Based on recommendations for dietary intakes issued by authorities such as the World Health Organization, the dietary reference intakes published by the U.S. Institute of Medicine and the European Food Safety Authority, Kellanova has agreed on standardized global dietary guidelines.

Energy (kcal)	Total Sugar	Added Sugar	Total Fat	Saturated Fat	Sodium	Fiber	Protein
2000	90g	50g	67g	22g	2000mg	25g	50g

Categorization

Our nutrition criteria recognize the roles different categories play in the overall diet and outline a set of assessment criteria for each food category.

Occasion	% Contribution toward the daily nutrient intake
Breakfast	20% - 25%
Lunch	25% -30%
Dinner	30%
Snacking Occasions (2)	10% each
